

What is Positive Behavioral Interventions & Supports (PBIS)?

- PBIS is a school wide character education program that teaches students what positive behavior looks like, while setting clear boundaries and consequences for negative behavior.
- PBIS aims to reduce the number of referrals or suspensions and enables educators to be more active and consistent in addressing behavior problems that do arise.
- At Abram Lansing Elementary, the teachers and staff educate students on expectations for behavior every year so students understand how to act appropriately and responsibly.
- PBIS provides a way for the school community to create a positive and safe school environment, promoting academic growth and appropriate social skills

PBIS and Character Education at Abram Lansing: How does it work?

Student Valets

- Abram Lansing's student valets keep before school activities running smoothly. Their assistance to other students helps everyone start the school day safely and in a positive environment.

Fill-A-Bag

- A school wide service project where each student decorates a bag filled with treats to benefit individuals at the Schuyler House and the City Mission.

No-Referral Parties

- Students who do not receive a referral are invited to attend a biannual no-referral party. During the party, students are rewarded with a movie and a treat such as popcorn.

Community outreach

- Students are a part of community outreach in participation with the Eddy to encourage a greater connection between generations.

CHARACTER COUNTS

Character Education

-teaching values for life-

- Character education involves teaching children about basic values such as trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship, inspiring students to be a positive influence within their community.
- Character education encourages cooperation among members in school and the community to realize their influence on one another as individuals and together as a society.
